Curriculum Hub

The Postgraduate Medical Education (PGME) Curriculum Hub provides essential and enriched curricular materials for the intrinsic CanMEDS 2026 competencies, which are integral to the learning and development of our trainees. These concepts and their integration into patient care are fundamental to the development of the professional identity of Canadian physicians.

The materials are designed to address areas supported by the Temerty Faculty of Medicine strategic priorities and mandated by the College of Family Physicians of Canada (CFPC) and the Royal College (RC) in their programmatic training requirements and institutional accreditation processes.

These resources can be used to support learning in academic half days and other educational activities within the University of Toronto postgraduate programs. Currently, the content is not intended for use outside of the University of Toronto (U of T). The content will be reviewed and updated regularly, based on input from Program Directors, Education leads and informed by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons and the College of Family Physicians of Canada.

The Hub is a showcase for the expertise and passion of its authors. We encourage you to visit the Hub regularly, as new offerings will be added continuously. Program updates will be communicated as new materials become available.
